NUMBER 33

VOLUME I.

GAVE BABY

Away, Did Louis Cooley and Wife,
And Then Went On Their Way Rejoicing.

There are thousands and thousands of parents in this world who would refuse to exchange one of their children for the earth and the fullness thereof, yet a man and his wife passed through Springfield Monday who tried to persuade a number of people to accept as a gift their two-months-old baby. It is said that the name of the man is Louis Cooley, and that for a time he and his wife have been inmates of the county Poor house. They were unsuccessful in their attempts to give the baby away in Springfield, and, throwing it across his shoulder as he would a sack of potatoes, the man and woman started out the Mackville pike. It is said they inquired of Mr. Coyle, janitor at the college, if he knew of some one they could hire to kill the infant. While waiting near the college, presumably for some one willing to undertake the job, Bessie Lynch, a colored woman, came by and consented to take charge of the baby. She brought it to town and gave it to the wife of James Mitchell, colored, who, it is claimed, desires to raise it. Cooley and his wife are said to be half-witted, and not responsible for their actions.

MOORESVILLE.

Frequent and heavy rains make it difficult to keep the weeds down, and they have taken possession of the gardens, tobacco patches and cornfields.

Mr. W. D. Pile and family visited Mr. Jeff. Smith last week. Mr. Pile contemplates removing here at an early date.

Palmer Chesner had a dog to go mad last week. He soon killed it, however.

On the Fourth we attended the fish fry given by the good people of Woodlawn, on the Big Beech, a mile below Maud. There was plenty of everything good to eat on hand and about three hundred people present. What they did to the fish was "a plenty." I was extremely fish hungry myself, but I got all I wanted. It was a gala day for all present.

Mrs. W. O. Ellis and daughter, Miss Nancy, and Mrs. Annie D. and Miss Eunice Weakley, were shopping in Springfield last Saturday.

Mrs. Etta Crume is on the sick list. Mr. John Ellis is at Lakeland, visiting his sister, Mrs. Tea Harding, and niece, Elizabeth. He will return home in a few days accompanied by them.

Mrs. Joie Settle is having a new-to-hatchery barn erected.

School opened up at Fairview on the 10th instant, with Miss Mollie Hines as teacher.

Do the people of Maud and vicinity need a bridge? Well, if you had been thereabouts last week you would have thought so. Dr. Shehan had a sick call and had to go ten miles to reach his destination, whereas he should have traveled but three miles. Several had to go by the Tunnel Mill to reach Bloomfield.

A double-deck car load of lambs was shipped from Booker's to Jersey City last Monday.

Settle Brothers have shipped their wool to the city. E. M. Arnold is holding his wool for a better price.

The Mooreville school opened July 3, with Mr. Hey Wiley as teacher.

Wheat threshing will open up in full blast as soon as the weather will permit.

Died In Louisville.

Mrs. Ellen Fowler, a sister of Mr. Ben. Haydon, Sr., of this place, died at her home in Louisville, Friday night, of a complication of diseases, aged seventy-nine. She was born and reared here, but had been living in Louisville for about fifteen years. She was married to Mr. Sam. Fowler, who was also a native of this county. Mr. Fowler died about six years ago. Deceased was a consistent member of the Catholic church, and her remains were laid to rest in the St. Louis cemetery, in Louisville, Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. John Thompson, of near town, is a daughter of the deceased, and has a host of friends who extend condolence.

Frightened to Death.

Elizabeththorn Mirror: A very unusual and most distressing death occurred Thursday of last week in the Fontainebleau vicinity. Virgil Carroll, the two-year-old son of Mr. Charles Carroll, was playing in the front yard, when a horse, which belonged to a neighbor, and was hitched to a post in front of the yard, gave a loud neigh, which so frightened the child that it went into spasms and died in a few minutes. Virgil was a bright and healthy child, and had been hale and hearty all his life. There are but few like deaths on record. The funeral was conducted at St. James church on Friday by Father Daly, and the interment was in the Catholic cemetery. The bereaved family has the sympathy of the entire community.

ANTIOCH.

JAMES DALRYMPLE, EXPERT ON MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

James Dalrymple of Glasgow, who is to assist Mayor Dunne in solving the problem of municipal ownership of street railways in Chicago, is general manager of the tramway lines in Glasgow, Scotland, which are owned and very successfully operated by the city of Glasgow. In Glasgow, under city ownership, fares have been lowered, hours of labor shortened, the service improved and a substantial profit turned in despite these facts.

Death Of Mr. Buckman.

Mr. James Robert Buckman, a brief mention of whose death was made in the last issue of The Sun, was born in Washington county, February 28, 1829, and died in Bullitt county July 4, 1905. He was seventy-six years, four months and six days old, and for twenty-nine years of his life he had been a devout member of the Catholic church. Mr. Buckman's death was due to injuries received from a fall from the barn loft on June 25. He leaves a wife and six children, to whom many Washington county friends and relatives extend condolence. His body was interred in St. Dominic's cemetery here last Wednesday.

Death Of Mrs. Quinn.

Mrs. Mary Ann Quinn, of Columbus, Ga., who had been here for one month visiting her nieces, Miss Fannie Wall and Mrs. B. F. Simms, and nephew, J. K. Wall, died yesterday afternoon of an attack of acute indigestion. She had been ill only a few hours, and her death came as a great shock to her relatives. Mrs. Quinn was seventy-eight years old, and had been a resident of Columbus, Ga., for many years, where the body has been sent for interment. She was a devout member of the Catholic church.

WILLSBURG.

News is scarce this week, but I will try to jot down a few items for The Sun.

We are still having lots of rain.

Mrs. James Brown and daughter, Miss Mattie, of Louisville, are visiting at this place.

Mrs. W. T. Wilson has returned home from Louisville, where has been visiting relatives and friends.

Quite a number of our young people attended church at Tatham Springs last Sunday morning.

Mr. W. B. Shirley and Miss Lela Goodlett attended church at Hillsboro last Sunday.

LONG RUN.

The singing at Brother John Edwards' Sunday evening was well attended. Miss Lillie Cavanaugh was the organist.

On the night of the 7th instant the wife of Marquis Cavanaugh, Jr., presented him with a fine boy.

A protracted meeting will begin at Wesley Chapel on the night of July 13. The presiding elder, Brother Simpson, will assist.

It is said that it never rains on a July night.

If you can not see a cloud when the sun sets on Friday evening it will be sure to rain before the next Tuesday evening.

Charley Coyle received lambs last week at 64 cents.

The blackberry crop is not an average one. Every farmer ought to have a blackberry patch in some waste place, as it would afford both pleasure and profit. When the berries are ripe, the farmer could take a day off, hike out to the briar patch, pick his berries, get scratched, a bee sting, perhaps, or "start" a snake, and imagine himself a boy again.

Mr. Harvey Key, who has had rheumatism for five years, is better than he has been in all that time.

School opened at Pottsville last Monday, with Miss Alma Orkies as teacher.

To The United States Court.

Judge A. M. Cochran, of the United States Circuit Court, handed down his decision in the Caleb Powers case, in which Powers made application for the removal of the case to the Federal Courts on the ground that he was discriminated against in the selection of juries to try him and could not enforce in the Kentucky Courts the rights granted him by the Federal Constitution; also because he had been pardoned of his alleged crime, conspiracy to assassinate Governor Goebel, by the de facto Governor of Kentucky, W. S. Taylor. The Court granted the petition of removal on the ground of Power's inability to enforce his constitutional rights in the Kentucky Courts. Of the Taylor pardon the Judge said it was a local question that had already been decided by the Kentucky Courts.

Champion Cattle Feeder.

Kentucky Standard: Mr. H. M. Watson, of Gethsemane, claims to be the champion cattle feeder of Nelson county. He fed the cattle of Distiller J. B. Dant, of Gethsemane, which were sold in the month of June at five cents per pound. The number of cattle fed was 127. When the bunch of cattle was purchased the average weight was 1,258 pounds, and when sold was 1,632, making an increase of 374 pounds in less than six months. This is rather a remarkable increase in weight for the length of time, and Mr. Watson wants to know who can beat it.

Bids Wanted.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of County Judge Litsey between this date and July 21 for quarrying the stone and building the abutments for Sale's ford bridge across Little Beech. For any information see any of the undersigned.

HOME STRETCH

Finish, Is the Story of Yesterday's Ball Game.—By a Grand Rally in the Ninth Inning Springfield Snatches a Victory From the Jaws of Defeat.

"Strike one!" "Strike two!" "Strike three!" and Smith, the first Greenburg man up in the momentous ninth, is out. "Too late!" yelled a Greenburg enthusiast to Colvin, and the visiting contingent shouted approval. "Biff!" and Blakeman, the next man up, is out, Colvin to Tong. "Strike three—batter's out!" and Sanders throws down his hat in disgust, and Greenburg goes to the field for the last time, confident that their lead of two runs can not be overcome.

"Batting up!" orders the umpire, and Colvin steps up to the plate. Silence seizes the crowd—silence as still as a Sabbath morn in a New England village. "Strike one!" and "Windy" moans. "Strike two!" and Ward, the Greenburg pitcher, smiles. The catcher signals; the pitcher grips the ball, winds his arm three times around his head for luck, and unloads and starts the ball toward the plate. A sharp, quick sound is heard, the Greenburg center fielder makes a dash toward town, leaps in the air and misses the ball, while Colvin rests on third. And then pandemonium reigned. "Crack!" and S. Stratton, the next man up, places a life saver in the right field at the right time, and Colvin crosses the plate—score, Springfield 2, Greenburg 3. On the first ball pitched, Stratton pifies the second stopping place for lucky batsmen. Cox, the next man up, pokes one on the nose, a mad scramble is seen at third, and all hands are safe—Stratton on third, Cox on second. "Now's the time, boys!" yells Windy, who never quits, and Marks emphasizes his encouragement by dumping one at third. Stratton starts for home, but the third baseman shoots the ball to the plate to cut him off; then a foot race up and down the line from third and home, all the Greenburg players getting into the play. A duck, a dodge, a slide, and Scott ties the score.

Men yelled, women yelled, boys turned somersaults, and Cox, the photographer, "says something" to J. W. Lewis. Tong meets the ball squarely and the game is over—Springfield 4, Greenburg 3. But the visitors played up to a standard.

Nice, clean ballplayers—gentlemen, every one of them—are those Greenburg and Campbellville boys. Ward, who pitches them in the summer, and learns how to pitch. Ann Harlow in the spring, is a "peach." His pitching is the most puzzling our boys have had to go up against this season, and he need feel no discouragement at this, his first defeat. The feature of the game from the Greenburg standpoint was the battery work of Ward and Cox, while Springfield can congratulate herself on Stratton's hitting, battery work, and the pathetic and lachrymose discomfiture of the Green county exiles, Lewis and Cox. Following is the summary:

Innings—

Greenburg—1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Springfield—0 2 0 0 0 1 0 3 3

Batteries—Ward and Cox, Colvin and Medley. Bases on balls—By Ward, 1; by Colvin, 1. Hit by pitcher—By Ward, 1; by Colvin, 1. Struck out—By Ward, 12; by Colvin, 11. Hits—Off Ward, 4; off Colvin, 10. Errors—By Ward, 3. Three-base hit—Colvin. Umpire—Robert Nee. Attendance—380.

Bob Nee, who umpired, as usual did the almost impossible by satisfying both sides. No better nor fairer umpire can be found.

Game Next Tuesday.

A game of ball will be played at the ball park in Springfield next Tuesday, July 18, between the Springfield club and the "Louisville Cox Dealers." Barrett, said to be one of the finest amateurs in Kentucky, will pitch for Louisville. Hard-to-Hit Colvin will pitch for Springfield.

Land Grafter.

Glasgow Times: No more interesting exposition of the immensity of western land frauds has ever been written than that contained in the current number of Everybody's Magazine, under the heading, "The West Coast Land Grafter." The facts and figures there added, both as to the immensity of the frauds perpetrated and the holdings of the grafter, are most astounding. Henry Miller owns 22,714 square miles, or 14,539,200 acres. What this means can be better understood when it is reflected that this tract of land is three times larger than New Jersey, as large as the combined areas of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Delaware—an area more than twice the size of the whole State of Kentucky. Miller appears to have been the most successful of all those who used the machinery of the law for land-robbing purposes. But there is a long list of others who have estates besides which the principalities, dukedoms and baronies of the Old World shrink into insignificance. John A. Benson has tied up about five million acres, mostly by means of fraudulent surveys and the homestead law, monopolizing what he has the aid of numerous corrupt officials at Washington. He is said to have been indicted eighty-six times, but so far has escaped conviction through the aid of conscienceless lawyers and sympathetic juries. Frederick A. Hyde has also manipulated the homestead law so as to secure the ownership of a large number of townships. A specimen of his methods in "homesteading" is found in the case of a wagon, located on the corner of four sections, each quarter of which wagon represented the "house" of a "settler" who, for a price, slept there and made the necessary outlay of "settlement and improvement" to secure a patent for the land; which was forthwith made over to his employer. A man named Jack had an estate which included nearly half of Monterey county, California. Jesse D. Carr has so located his various great holdings as to inclose an immense area of land the title to which yet rests in the United States. And around the whole he has stretched a barbed wire fence more than 100 miles long. There are only a few among hundreds of similar instances. To call the roll of those who by fraud obtained possession of "Kingdoms" in California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington and other States, would be to name a large proportion of the men who have made themselves prominent in affairs, including unfortunately, a great number of public officials, United States senators, representatives, district attorneys and land office clerks. Similar schemes have been worked in Minnesota, the Dakotas and other states not referred to in the magazine article. United States Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, is now on trial for complicity in these land frauds, with every indication that he will be convicted. The entire West appears to be permeated with this far-reaching corruption.

An Editor's Orchestration.

The Kansas City Journal tells a story that is plastered all over with a moral. According to the Journal, a merchant asked the city editor to roast the city administration for letting an itinerant peddler come in there and undress him on goods. This is what the editor wrote: "I have heard that you hereby take notice that you are roasted for permitting peddlers to sell goods here. The merchant for whom we do this favor has his job printing done in Chicago."

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected to Live From One Hour to Another, but Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Dewey, of Agnewville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up, and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to see Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and got a bottle of it from the store. I gave her a change for the better. We kept on giving it, and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist."

"One-Arm Berry."

Sam. Berry, commonly known as "One-Arm Berry," was one of the famous of the notorious band of guerrillas who infested the northwestern part of Nelson county in 1867. He was a man of some education and fair address. He was fearless, but not bloodthirsty. In the winter of 1865 he had been wounded, shot through the right arm, and as his left arm was left below the elbow, this left him helpless. One morning his comrades brought him to my mother's with his negro boy, "Major," and he remained all day and all night. In the house were three young ladies, one of whom, with myself, sat all night in his room, while he lay in a sort of stupor on a lounge, the head and foot of which were decorated with his pistols. "Major" slept on the floor. Near night, next day, came his comrades—Sue Munday, Henry Magruder and Jim Davis—to take him away. There was a slight snow on the ground. The moon was shining through the thin clouds. Jim Davis was talking and joking with the young ladies. Henry Magruder, weighted down with pistols, walked rapidly up and down and around the yard, swearing terribly and constantly that the "Yankees" would be on in a few moments, which seemed probable, from the barking of the dogs at a house just five hundred yards to the south. I never heard such oaths in my life as Magruder poured forth. But Sue Munday quietly and gently walked on the right side of his comrade and friend, and assisted him down the path through the yard to the stile, where his horse was held by "Major." He scared nearly out of my wits, walked on his left and held on to his stump of an arm. Of course we were glad to see them go, but were alarmed at the barking of the dogs at the neighbor's house. Berry was assisted to the stile and on his horse, and with the rein on the stump of an arm and Sue Munday on his right—Davis and Magruder having mounted in the meantime—they all rode off, turning abruptly to the north. About this time the barking of the dogs to the south ceased. Next morning our neighbor came over and told us that Quantrell, with about twenty-five men, just from Missouri, all with Federal overcoats on, were at his house, and, fearing something was wrong, he had directed them across the fields to the house they were inquiring for, instead of by our house, which was on the usual route. Thus we escaped a fierce conflict between daring men who had never met, but in a few days afterward were close friends and comrades.

Quite Natuaal.

It is natural for parents to feel that their children are gifted. At least, most of them do. Let a little tot, about four years old, strike the simple tune of some old, familiar song, and the first thing that draws to the head of the proud mother is that Johnnie, or Mary, or Susan will develop into a musician who will some day astound the people of every continent in the world. Then it is that the music teacher is sought, and the wonderful accomplishments of the little prodigy are told in emphatic and excited tones. The teacher agrees that it is "perfectly wonderful." When daddy comes home to his dinner he is cornered in the family room and told what Mrs. Jones, the teacher, has said about the little "mocking bird." Very likely he will insist that it will be very likely to wait a little while, but this is in vain. So the little wonder is started in on Monday morning with his a-b in music—and nine times out of ten a good mechanic or a good cook is ruined, eventually.

How to Look Tall.

Ways of increasing her height are a constant source of thought to the short woman. To look her tallest at all times she should remember some simple general rules. High heels are a mistake. The cut and length of the skirt are the most important. The best materials to give light are either plain ones or those with a tiny stripe running lengthwise. Full skirts and baggy sleeves are fatal to the short woman. A very tight dress is a mistake, giving an idea of inelegance, and a large one is no better, making the small wearer appear all hat. Safety lies in the medium line, trimmed in a quite inconspicuous fashion. But, after all, the way a woman walks and stands is her great advantage or disadvantage. It is possible for even a little woman to be so upright and hold her head so prettily that she will appear quite tall without the least suggestion of stiffness. A well carried head will give an additional two inches to the height.

The Clotheline.

A galvanized wire clotheline is better than rope, as it can be left up, is always ready for use after you have given it a rub with a cloth—and don't get as black and dirty as a rope does. But don't put it up where it will catch you under the chin when you're out in the dark.

The Missouri Mule.

Chula (Mo.) News: A mule from Chula brought $450 on the St. Louis market a few months ago. This mule from Chula has as many ancestors as anybody, but from now on, as far as he is concerned, there is a full stop; the lid is on, as Mr. Folk would say, nothing doing. Of course, everybody knows that Missouri leads the world on mules and Chula, town leads Missouri, that's why we talk. A mule colt will bring from $75 to $200 on the street of Chula, about $1 a pound. They are seldom offered for sale, however, as a mule was never known to get sick or old. A mule is always worth his five-year-old price. He can always do anything he could ever do. At thirty-five he looks the same, acts the same, is the same and matches his five-year-old platonic thirty-second, twice removed accidental, half grandniece.

His noble ears and mealy nose. His glistering coat and polished toes. His fine, straight legs and ribs of steel. His muscles tense as when you feel A monster warship's iron keel. His tendons of the strength it brings To twist a million catgut strings. He drags the battle engines forth, And proud to prove on field his worth, He dies like one of noble birth. A faith portrayed in form and face, To divorce mountains from their base. He dies at last a giant king. Of all the creatures earth can bring. And leaves no child his praise to sing.

Sickening, Shivering Fits.

of Ague and Malaria can be relieved and cured with Electric Bitters. This is a pure, tonic medicine, of especial benefit in Malaria, for it exerts a true curative influence on the disease, driving it entirely out of the system. It is written by Dr. J. C. Haydon, having none of this drug's bad after-effects. E. S. Munday, of Henrietta, Texas, writes: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice, till he took Electric Bitters, which saved his life." At C. J. Haydon's drug store; price, 50 cents, guaranteed.

A Rich Oil Strike.

Barbourville, Ky., July 8.—An 800-barrel oil well was drilled in Wayne county and is creating great excitement in the lower Kentucky oil fields, being probably the best strike of high-grade oil ever made in this state. The flow was controlled with the greatest difficulty.

Tobacco Warehouse Destroyed.

Mr. Oviatt, Ky., July 8.—The large tobacco warehouse belonging to Willis Wiggins, of near Sardinia, was burned, being set on fire by sparks from a passing traction engine. About 15,000 pounds of tobacco and many farming implements were consumed.

Former Harrodsburg Man Dead.

Harrodsburg, Ky., July 8.—A telegram was received here announcing the death at Joplin, Mo., of Dwight Van Allen, a prominent citizen of Harrodsburg, who had been in business at Joplin for several years. The cause of his death was rheumatism.

Bank Tax Suits Dismissed.

Harrodsburg, Ky., July 8.—The two suits here by Revenue Agent Harrison against the Mercer National and First National banks for five years' back taxes on $200,000 were dismissed by Mr. Harrison, who was here to make an investigation.

Harrodsburg Herald: Mr. C. P. Kennedy, who traded his mill and 190 acres of land in this county for 500 acres of Tennessee land, seems to have made a good swap. In the trade he put in his property at $15,000 and the Tennessee put his in at the same figures. Now Mr. Kennedy has sold 300,000 feet of oak timber on his Tennessee possessions to the Weber Wagon Company, of Chicago, at $30 a thousand, the total being $9,000, and has sold other parties $6,000 worth of timber and has the land left, and it is river bottom and is as productive as any soil on earth. He has 300 acres in corn and cotton. The deal was made through W. T. Ewing.

Seeking Foster Ray.

Cincinnati Enquirer, July 2: Detectives from Louisville were in this city yesterday trying to locate Foster Ray, of Lebanon, Ky., the son of Mrs. Mary Ray, one of the wealthiest residents of that section of the State, and find out about his surroundings.

Word was received from Attorneys Batson and Cary, of Louisville, to the effect that some months ago Ray, who is suing his wife for divorce in the Falls City courts, made a trip to San Antonio with a Cincinnati girl. They are trying to learn if the couple were married while on this southern trip, as Mrs. Ray wanted the evidence to use in the divorce case which she is fighting in Louisville.

Ray was found at 708 John street, where he has a room. In the same house, with her sister, lives Nettie Krebs, daughter of Mrs. Cecil Krebs, of 506 West Seventh street. Miss Krebs went to San Antonio, Texas, with Ray, but both claim they were not married then and have not been married since.

The story young Ray—who is about twenty-six years of age—tells of his domestic affairs is somewhat harrowing. Several years ago he was married to a young lady high in the social circles of Lebanon, Ky. They lived happily until after their little boy died. After that Ray claims that they had all kinds of trouble, and he was continually threatened with incarceration in an asylum, and, being near a nervous collapse, he says he turned over to her $15,000 with the understanding that she quit all claim to him as her husband.

He was then placed for a time in the College Hill Sanitarium, where he ultimately recovered to the extent that he could be taken back home. Then, he says, his wife made overtures and they became reconciled, and after living with her for a time she decided to turn over to her, by deed of conveyance, $125,000 worth of property, and then, after removing with him to Louisville, kicked him out of her house.

His mother, who is estimated to be worth about $250,000, got hold of him and caused him to live for a time in retirement. On a visit to this city he met Miss Nettie Krebs, whose mother keeps a boarding house at 506 West Seventh street, and they fell in love. She made the trip with him to Kentucky, where he was recuperating his lost health, and he returned here to live as near her as possible until he will have secured a divorce from his wife, at which time he expects to make Miss Krebs his wife.

Ray has entered suit at Lexington to have the deed by which he conveyed to his wife the $125,000 estate set aside. That suit is still pending, as his suit for divorce at Louisville, where his wife now resides.

Typhoid Fever.

Mr. Samuel Adams, in an article in the current number of Collier's Weekly, says: "The average American city of one hundred thousand inhabitants wastes annually half a million dollars on the luxury of having typhoid fever, and perhaps a hundred thousand more on efforts at prevention, all in spite of the easily preventable nature of the disease. All typhoid is traceable to polluted water. If, for a year, the world should stop drinking diluted water, and instead drank pure water, nine tenths of all typhoid infection cases direct from bad water; the other tenth would disappear if the principal causes were eliminated. Nearly all large cities are constantly infected by water polluted either by the sewers or others. Physicians and health authorities lie about the disease in order not to bring ill repute on their towns, as Cornell did during its famous epidemic, with various officers of that university interested in the Ithaca water works. No wonder, our spirit being what it is, the mortality per one hundred thousand for typhoid in the Spanish war was 1,631."

The Sparrow and The Wheat Crop

My long-erred College street friend and some head growers seem to have it in for the English sparrow, but I think that this good old earth is furnishing an abundance for every living creature that has been placed on it. Besides, what difference will it make to us in a few years, yes, very soon, here, whether we let the birds have a few cherries and a little wheat? I think that anything that can display the sagacity of these little bipeds is entitled to a living—no matter what the expense—the following year. Some days ago I was driving down Lexington avenue, near the railroad, behind a wagon loaded with corn. Many of the grains fell into the street and the sparrows pounced on them and, being too large for them to swallow, they carried the corn to the track and laid it on the rails. I did not know what all this meant, but pretty soon a freight train came along and crushed the grains, and I never saw as much destruction among birds all my life. The wheels had ground the corn to the right size, and the way those sparrows devoured it was a caution.—Tilford Huff, in Harrodsburg Herald.

Troubles of The Telephone Girl.

The following from the Louisville Times is published in the News. It is a question. Everybody using a telephone should observe the following rules:

If you have a telephone in your office or store, call up "central" and then ask for a customer.

Take your time in answering your bell, or, what is better, do not answer it at all, but in about half an hour ring up and ask who called you and get mad if central has forgotten who it was.

She has nothing else to remember. Hang up the receiver big end up, as in this way it gets full of dust.

Hit the transmitter with a lead pencil as though you intended to knock it through the wall. This invariably makes it talk better.

When through talking drop the receiver or throw it down. This allows the batteries to run out and breaks the strands in the receiver cords.

Open the generator box with a knife and as you take a look at the gears, if the interior does not look right pull out a few wires and leave the door open. This improves the service wonderfully.

Throw a metal inkstand, etc., on top of the telephone, which will short circuit the system. That being the case, and no one can call you.

Never ring off when through talking, as that will notify "central" you have finished. Let her guess at it.

Never speak kindly to the operator, as she is more used to being called names.

On Sunday and holidays use your telephone all you possibly can, for your operator is only a piece of machinery and don't care for worldly pleasures.

Paste this on your telephone for future reference. AN OPERATOR.

One Dollar Save Represents $10 Earned. The average man does not save to exceed 10 per cent. of his earnings. He must spend 90 in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case, he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by C. J. Haydon, druggist.

Marion Items.

Falcon: Mr. B. S. Phillips died at the State Asylum in Lexington Friday night, and his remains were brought here, where they will be placed at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. A. Lewis, after which the interment was in Ryder cemetery. Mr. Phillips was a former citizen of this county, having been a school teacher. MAN'S PECULIARITIES.

It's mighty hard for man to please himself with everything he sees. For often times he sees a horse. A passing by--or, something worse: Sees some fellow he is owing. Sees his dimes and dollars going. Sees his "fondlest hope" take flight. But--doesn't want to lose his sight! It's mighty hard, so it appears. For man to believe one-half he hears. Hears some day 'ish fellow's tried to make somebody believe he's lied. He hears he is a perfect sot. He hears he is an id-id-id. Hears a thousand people hearing. But--doesn't want to lose his hearing!

Fourth of July accidents in the United States: Fifty-four deaths, 3,157 wounded, and the loss by fire amounted to $251,317. Patriotism comes a little high, but we've got to have her or bust. What do a few lives amount to in comparison with the fun we have in throwing giant crackers at the stars and stripes?

The Louisville Herald says: Senator John H. Mitchell's fall dates from the darkness hour when he deserted wife and babes in a Pennsylvania home. Every success he has since achieved has served to bring misdeeds into more forbidding relief. Now he is convicted of being a thief. The mills of the gods don't do a thing to such grist.

For twenty-two years Senator Mitchell represented Oregon in the United States Senate. A man who cruelly deserts his wife and children may be successful for a period, but if God Almighty permits his mean heart to beat for many years after he begins his game of hellishness, it will some day cease its beating in the hospital of a penitentiary.

It's not the hum of the little honey bee That fills the hive with honey. And that's a thing that's easy to see--Remember it, my sonny. And it's not the buzz. It's what the bee buzz. That makes her have "wuth" money.

The Harrodsburg Herald says the Republican candidates for nomination before the primary election to be held in Clay county, September 5, have adopted the following emblems:

One has secured a frog, one a mule, another a horse with harness on; still a good fat hog will help his case; another has adorned his literature with the picture of a turtle; a candidate for jailer has a picture of a yoke of oxen on his cards, and another that of himself on a horse; one has a horse shoe, meaning he is going to have good luck. On the paper of another is the candidate's own likeness, and his neighbor, who wants the same office, instead of putting up his own picture, uses that of a hearty jack.

These are all right with the exception of the last two "devices." Here there is a probability of the voter becoming confused. There ought to be some sort of a distinguishing mark. We would suggest that a knot be tied in the jack's tail.

Editor J. S. Wilson and wife and Mr. Wallace Brown have bought Mr. J. C. Alcock's stock in the Standard Publishing Company. Mr. Alcock will engage in the newspaper business in another town.

A race war right in the heart of New York city indicates pretty strongly that the Yankee doesn't love the coon with that earnestness and devotion that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" would have you believe.

Henry E. Youtsey, confessed assassin of Governor Goebel, now serving a life sentence in the Frankfort penitentiary, was tried by the same court before which Judge Cochran, of the United States Circuit Court, has just declared that Caleb Powers was unable to secure a fair trial.

A woman named Legg is sentenced to hang in West Virginia. This would be a sort of leg pulling and hanging combined. We sincerely hope the Governor will commute the sentence.

A scientist says that an orange and not an apple was the "forbidden fruit." We refuse to believe any such stuff, because every indication points to the "fact" that the Garden of Eden was located in Kentucky--and we don't grow oranges.

W. S. Taylor expresses himself as being satisfied that Powers will now be given a fair trial. But he does not think the chances of his securing one sufficiently good to guarantee to him "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" on this side of the Ohio river.

"The man who makes 'excuses' very seldom makes anything else.

They're having politics in Louisville now about right--the sort that convinces a fellow that it's h--ll.

Don't sit around and wish that you were rich; go to pulling weeds out of the garden.

With the United States Court standing between Taylor and unfair trial, will the Governor of Indiana honor that requisition?

Lots of people put their reputation on crutches and haven't got sense enough to know that society can see they are not "walking straight."

Poor Youtsey! He's the only one of the assassins that got a fair trial.

Kentucky has been hanging some of her murderers during the past few weeks. Good for Kentucky! But 'tis a horrible thing to hang a poor devil by the neck until he is dead! dead! dead! There is not much "humanity" in such a procedure, but there's a world of justice. Cease the dangling of the hangman's noose before the murderer's eyes and he will spill blood just for the fun of seeing it trickle. Hangings are terribly necessary. Go right on, Kentucky, go right on.

Elihu Root, the newly-appointed Secretary of State, gives up a law practice which amounts to $1,000 per day. That's an enormous sum for one man to earn every day by the "sweat of his brow." Mr. Root was a corporation lawyer--in other words he was a trust lawyer. The trusts--that is those trusts in which he was interested as an attorney--did just what he told 'em to do, and they felt that his advice was worth one thousand dollars a day. Now that he has gone into the President's Cabinet what will the poor trusts do? Answer, and go up head.

W. S. Taylor, who is playing hokey in the State of Indiana, rises to remark that "I now feel sure Powers will be given a fair and impartial trial." The Governor of Indiana has contended all along that as soon as it was proven to him that Taylor and Finley would be given fair trials in Kentucky he would honor the requisitions of Gov. Beckham. Now that Taylor himself practically admits that he would be given a fair trial will the Governor of Indiana deliver him up?

ROBERTSON BROTHERS, SRPINGFIELD, KY.

AND NOW THE INCOME TAX.

The Commoner: In the invitation for proposals for bids for the construction of railroads in the Philippines, which invitation was made public by Secretary of War Taft June 11, it is provided that in place of all taxes, the railways must pay annually for thirty years to the Philippine government, one-half of one percent of their gross earnings; for fifty years after the expiration of the thirty years period the annual amount to be paid in place of taxes shall be one and one-half percent upon the gross earnings. After that time the amount to be paid shall be fixed by the Philippine government.

Do our eyes deceive us or is this really a formal endorsement by the republican administration of the principles of the income tax?

The republican administration has given its endorsement to the democratic plan of giving the interstate commission power to fix railroad rates. It has given its endorsement to the democratic demand that the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law be enforced. It has given its endorsement to the democratic plan of requiring federal license before a corporation may do business outside of the state of its origin. It has given an emphatic denial to the republican claim that protection is a highly patriotic and moral rule; it has given an emphatic endorsement of the democratic claim that "protection is a robbery of the many to enrich the few;" it has admitted that the tariff should not be employed by the American manufacturer as a means for imposing extortionate price upon the American consumer. And now in the Philippine islands the republican administration has given endorsement to the principle of the income tax.

To a great many people the question will occur: If the principle of the income tax is good as applied to the Philippines, why is it not good as applied to our own land? And if it is proper for the government to go to the markets where it can buy cheapest its supplies for the Panama canal in order to escape extortionate prices, with what reason will the individual consumer who supports the government be denied the benefit of that same common sense remedy?

Those merchants who set up shop and expect to "do business" without the use of printer's ink are very scarce articles. Occasionally, though, one of this nature is found, but he doesn't stay found very long; he soon gets lost in the shuffle, soon becomes numbered with the "no-mores." Verily, verily, he soon becometh as a last year's bird nest.

Advertising will make a little merchant grow big. It is the food which fattens his business.

If Youtsey hadn't confessed it's very likely he wouldn't have got that fair trial.

President Roosevelt recently walked thirteen miles with the thermometer 99 in the shade-- another indication that the President is a warm number.

kinds of crops in every section of the county. Corn and oats were blown down and wheat in the shock was greatly damaged.

The Harrodsburg Herald says: Messrs. Steve Terhune and J. T. Ingram have bought Mr. J. J. Jenkins' 25-acre farm, near VanArsdale, for $10,000. Mr. Terhune sold Mr. Jenkins his eighty acres, near Cornishville, for $5,000. The deal was made through the real estate agency of W. T. Ewing.

LARGE TEETH.—Mr. J. E. Carter, of near New Market, in Marion county, recently found two very large teeth, which are baffling "teethologists" of that section. The teeth are about three and one-half inches long and are about the size of a small corn-cob. They were found near the spot where Mr. Sylvester Malone some time ago found the huge skeleton of an unknown animal.

The bank statement made by the Peoples Deposit Bank in this paper shows this institution to have earned 6 per cent. net in the past six months, paid to its stockholders a dividend of 4 per cent. and added 2 per cent. to its undivided profits from net earnings. Surplus and undivided profits now exceed $20,000. This gives to the depositors ample safety, and should be very satisfactory to the stockholders.

BLOWN TO PIECES.

Eight Men Killed and Two Injured by a Premature Explosion at New Cumberland.

BODIES WERE TERRIBLY MANGLED

Particles of Flesh and Bone Were Scattered For a Distance of 200 Yards From the Scene.

The Explosion Shook the Country For Miles Around and Broke Many Windows in Harrisburg and Towns Across the River.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 10.—Eight men were blown to pieces and two others were injured by the premature explosion of a big blast of rock powder on the Pennsylvania railroad improvement near New Cumberland. The accident occurred directly across the Susquehanna river from the scene of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck May 11 in which 23 persons were killed and many others injured. All the victims of the last disaster were employees of P. S. Korhaugh and Co., incorporated contractors, who are building the double tracks for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to connect with the B&O yards. The explosion of the men were terribly mangled and particles of flesh and bone were scattered for a distance of 200 yards from the scene of the explosion.

Not a trace of two colored men who were killed can be found and it is supposed their bodies were blown into the river which is being investigated. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of premature explosion from an unknown cause and no blame attached to the contractors. All the killed were laborers aside from Wiseman, whose body was terribly mangled. What could be found of it was identified by the fact that it bore his hair. His scalp and a portion of his head was found on a hill, 200 yards from the blast.

Cause of the Disaster.—A "big shot" was being prepared. This consisted of a series of blasts, the holes having been drilled in a row and the charges being set off simultaneously by an electric spark. Five of the holes had been filled with powder and the men were at work on the sixth when the explosion occurred. It is supposed that a small stone had gotten into the hole and that the iron bar with which the men were tamping down the charge caused a spark by scraping on the stone and that this ignited the powder.

John Shetter, the fireman of the dinky engine, 150 feet away was thrown to the ground by the force of the explosion and slightly injured. G. C. Miller was sitting at the door of the engine where the men bunk, 200 feet from the blast, and was blown 25 feet and badly bruised.

One Italian escaped because a fellow workman had playfully snatched his hat and ran with it. The owner ran after the man and had just got out of range of the explosion when it occurred. An Italian water boy, 12 years old, who was on his way to the men with a bucket of water, was buried 50 feet and every stitch of clothing was torn from his body. Pieces of flesh and bone were found fastened in the telegraph wires over the railroad tracks. The fragments of the bodies were placed in rough caskets after the coroner's inquest and will be buried. The explosion shook the country for miles around and broke many windows in Harrisburg and towns across the river. Twelve hundred and fifty pounds of rock powder had been unloaded just before the explosion, but it was not disturbed.

STRUCK BY A TROLLEY CAR.

Nine People Injured. One of Them Fatally, in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., July 10.—Nine people were injured, one of them fatally, at the corner of Fort and Hastings streets when a trolley car crashed into a wagonload of people returning from a drive about Belle Isle Park.

Joseph Schwartz, of Toledo, who was fatally injured in the collision, was driving and did not hear the car approaching. The wagon was squarely on the track when the car struck it and was demolished. The occupants were hurled in every direction.

Two Killed in a Storm.—Navasota, Tex., July 10.—A wind storm or tornado struck this place, doing thousands of dollars damage to resident property and wrecking farm fences and buildings in a wide swath to the westward for many miles. Two negroes were killed on the Mullin farm.

Killed By An Assailant.—Pikeville, Tenn., July 10.—W. L. Tollett, proprietor of a hotel here, and brother of State Senator E. G. Tollett, of Crossville, was shot and killed while coming from his farm. No cause is known for the crime.

DEATH OF CAPT. CLAYTON.

He Was at the Head of the Original Kentucky Lottery.

Covington, Ky., July 10.—John Clayton, 76, a pioneer of this city, with a unique business history, died at his home, 71 East Tenth street, after several weeks' illness. Capt. Clayton was the recognized head of the original Kentucky Lottery Co., which operated under the laws passed by the legislature to provide school funds for certain counties in the state, of which Clayton county was not one. For years the lottery flourished and the office at the northeast corner of Fourth and Scott streets, was the Mecca of the lottery men of Cincinnati, Covington and all the Ohio valley until the federal authorities, in 1888, stepped in and declared the game illegal.

HIGH BRED STALLIONS.

Five Have Been Purchased For the Japanese Government.

Lexington, Ky., July 10.—B. Hiesava and T. Hayashi, representatives of the Japanese government, have closed the purchase of five highly bred stallions to be sent to the royal stud. Three are thoroughbreds and the others registered trotters. The consideration in each case is private. The thoroughbreds bought at J. B. Haggin's Elmdorff are Renard St. by Salvador, dam Scott's Fir; Teddy Mac, 5, by Candide; dam Tongue; W. B. Roeder, 4, by Orsini; dam Elmgire. Bought of W. L. Spears, the trotters are Sanchez, 7, by Worthier; dam Massimo; Piatocral, 2, by Jay McGregor; dam Millionaire.

A PISTOL DUEL.

Green Murrell Killed and Harve Rice Seriously Wounded.

London, Ky., July 10.—A telephone message tells of the killing of Green Murrell, a desperate rowdy, by Harve Rice, at the latter's store on Indian street in Owensboro. A pistol duel occurred in which each fired several shots. Murrell fired first, wounding Rice seriously, the ball taking effect over the right eye. Rice then shot Murrell dead. Rice is very prominent, being the republican nominee for sheriff of Owens county.

With a Bullet in His Leg.—Louisville, Ky., July 10.—"Pap" Deville, 70, night watchman for the Louisville Elevator Co., was found unconscious with a bullet wound in his leg. He had accidentally shot himself at 7 o'clock the night before. Instead of summoning aid or going home he hid his rounds the remainder of the night without missing a single hour on the "watchman's clock" record.

Wrote His Name in Blood.—Oreosboro, Ky., July 10.—With the cell which was occupied by Robert S. Mathley, the dual murderer, up to the time of his execution Friday, was inspected by the jail authorities. It was found that he had written his name in letters of blood on the walls of the cell.

Shooting Was Accidental.—Jackson, Ky., July 10.—Luther Day, 21, son of William Day, of this county, was accidentally shot. While returning home from a picnic with a companion a revolver in the hands of his friend was discharged and a bullet struck young Day in the left side.

In a Serious Collision.—Newport, Ky., July 10.—Mrs. Edward Berry, who with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Col. R. W. Nelson, were the victims of a collision between their carriage and an electric car at Fifth and Race streets, is in a serious condition at her home as a result of the accident.

Five Injured in a Wreck.—Lexington, Ky., July 10.—A passenger train on the L. & N. railroad from Louisville ran into an open switch in the local yards and five people were injured. It is believed by officials of the road that the switch was thrown by some one to wreck the train.

She Gets Her Share.—Louisville, Ky., July 10.—Forty years after Samuel Mack was supposed to have died, fighting his country's first, and only real war, he has secured judgment for her one-third interest in his estate, which is valued at about $11,000.

Shot His Brother-in-Law.—Letchfield, Ky., July 10.—Robert Day, a saloonkeeper at Hudsonville, shot and mortally wounded his brother-in-law, Lee H. H. Day. It is said that Day called him to his door and fired upon him with a gun loaded with buckshot.

Two Good Wells Struck.—Sergeant, Ky., July 10.—The new De Motte Oil and Gas Co., a Cincinnati corporation, struck three good wells in the Beaver oil field. Hall well No. 42 came in with a 60-barrel flow. Hall well No. 43 was a close second.

MUTINEERS HELD.

The Crew of the Kniaz Potemkin Surrendered to the Rumanian Government.

TREATED AS FOREIGN DESERTERS.

Adm. Kruger, of the Black Sea Fleet, Boarded and Took Possession of the Ship.

Russian Torpedo Boat, Which Accompanied the Kniaz Potemkin, Left the Rumanian Port For Odessa Without Surrendering.

Kustentj, Rumania, July 10.—The flag of St. Andrew once again flew over the battleship Kniaz Potemkin which had proved such terrors to the Black Sea communities for a couple of weeks.

The formal surrender of the mutinous crew occurred Saturday afternoon after a series of discussions and negotiations between the Rumanian authorities and leaders of the mutineers. The Rumanian officers who boarded the battleship on her arrival here called upon the crew to surrender, in which case they would be treated as foreign deserters, or else to leave the port forthwith.

Adm. Kruger Sunday afternoon boarded and took possession of the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkin. King Charles of Rumania having sent instructions to the commander of the Rumanian squadron that the vessel be delivered to the Russian authorities without raising difficulties.

The torpedo boat which accompanied the Kniaz Potemkin, however, left for Odessa without surrendering, declaring that she had not mutinized but that the Kniaz Potemkin had forced her to follow.

The Rebel Ship Transferred.—Adm. Kruger arrived with his squadron after exchanging the customary salute, and intimated that he had come to arrange for the transfer of the Kniaz Potemkin. Adm. Koslinski, commander of the Rumanian squadron, boarded the Russian battleship Tuesday and informed Adm. Kruger that King Charles had ordered him to turn the vessel over to the Russian admiral. The formalities of the transfer were completed Sunday afternoon and Adm. Kruger boarded the Kniaz Potemkin.

A press representative inspected the Kniaz Potemkin after the withdrawal of the Rumanian guard. Despite the efforts of the Rumanians to get things in shipshape everything aboard the battleship was still in a state of wild disorder. The officers' cabins were stripped of everything of any value and bloodstains were everywhere. There was sufficient ammunition aboard the Kniaz Potemkin to have enabled the mutineers to make a desperate resistance.

It is said during the last few days the vessel was navigated by two engineers and an officer with revolvers at their heads.

Wanted To Blow Up the Ship.—All of the sailors wished to surrender with the exception of Matuschenko, leader of the mutiny, who resisted for some time and wanted to blow up the ship.

Seven officers were prisoners aboard the Kniaz Potemkin. They were in a pitiable condition from ill treatment. They declare that Matuschenko killed ten officers of the battleship.

All the papers and books belonging to the vessel were destroyed. It appears that the decision to surrender the Kniaz Potemkin was made when it became evident that no other vessels would join in the mutiny. The crew of the battleship seemed to be in the mood to surrender.

Adm. Kruger has applied to the Rumanian consul here to be sent back to Russia. St. Petersburg, July 10.—The government is awaiting a report from Adm. Kruger before making representations to the Rumanian government for the return of the mutineers of the Potemkin. It was stated at the foreign office that no official information of the attitude of Rumania towards the mutineers had been received.

Death of William Orr.—Toronto, July 10.—William Orr is dead. He was one of the men who cut the steamer Caroline from her moorings and sent her over Niagara Falls during the rebellion of 1837. The Caroline was the supply ship of the Canadian rebel troops.

Honored John Hay's Memory.—New York, July 10.—Jews of the east side thronged the synagogue of the Rumanian-American congregation in Rivington street to honor the memory of the late John Hay, secretary of state. Congressman Goldfogle delivered a eulogy.

Will Wed a Baroness.—Venice, July 10.—The engagement is announced of Paul Nash, American consul here, and the Baroness von Mayner, of Piedmont. The baroness, who moves in the highest society, is at present residing in Venice.

Torpedo Vessels Collide.—Rockland, Me., July 10.—The torpedo boat destroyer Whipple and Steward collided as they were about to enter this harbor upon arrival from Gardner's Bay. The Whipple's steering gear was badly damaged.

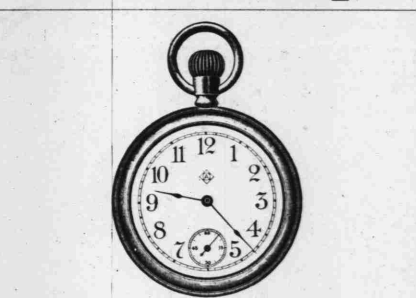

WASHINGTON COUNTY BUSINESS DIRECTORY

WHEN YOU WANT TO MAKE A PURCHASE, MAKE IT AT HOME, when you want to have a job of work done, have it done at home. If you go away from home to buy, or if you go away from home to have work done, nine times out of ten you hurt yourself worse than you do the home merchant or the home mechanic. At home the merchant knows you and you will not misrepresent his goods to him; he has known you for years, he is your friend, he doesn't want to cheat you, he doesn't want your money for nothing. If you have ever bought anything from a mail-order house doubtless you can remember of having received different treatment. Their propositions look good in print, but don't "come up." Pay your money "out" at home and it may "come back" again, but send it to one of the big mail order houses and it will buy 30-cent cigars for some millionaire in a European home. The Sun begs to call the attention of its subscribers to the following businesses conducted in Springfield and Washington county by honest and honorable men. When you want to make a purchase look over this list and select your store. You will be tickled when you compare your purchase with that of the man who bought from the big mail-order house. TRY YOUR HOME MERCHANT FIRST; THAT WILL BE TREATING HIM FAIR.

MYSTERIOUS MADMAN FOUND IN THE WOODS.

Discovered Turning Somersaults
and Behaving in Extraordinary Manner in England.

London.—The mystery of the madman who, with nothing on but a night-shirt, was found wandering in a wood which skirts the Mansfield road about three miles from Nottingham, is as far as ever from solution, although the man has recovered his reason sufficiently to give some account of himself.

He says that his name is Nicholas Schreiber and he gives his address as "Pleasant, Rhein Platz, Bavaria." He is about 50 years old.

His story is that he landed in London from Germany in March with about $50 in his possession. He was

He ran about turning somersaults, robbing of this sum, and as he could get no work he set out to tramp to Liverpool in hope of being able to work his passage from there to America.

His knowledge of American customs and of the country generally suggest that he has already been in the United States.

Dr. Jackson, superintendent of the county asylum at Radcliffe-on-Trent, where the man is at present, is of the opinion that his temporary loss of reason is due to his having been without food for a long time. He is improving so rapidly now that he will probably be able to leave the asylum in a week.

In the meantime, however, he can offer no explanation as to the loss of his clothes, or as to how he came to the neighborhood of Nottingham.

No trace of any clothes has been found in the neighborhood, although a most careful search has been made. The police are beginning to place credence in the story of a mysterious motor car. The laborer who saw it declare that the car flashed past him "like lightning." There were two men in it and huddled in the bottom was a figure in white. Soon afterwards the car came back with the two men, but the white figure had disappeared. An hour afterward, he declares, he saw a man running about, turning somersaults and behaving in an extraordinary manner.

It was not long after the time mentioned by the laborer that the police discovered the mysterious man in the woods.

WIFE AT PLOW: MAN LOAFES

Woman Compelled to Told While Husband Smokes and Looks On—Seeks Divorce.

Omaha, Neb.—That she is tired of working the farm and then having her husband run off with the proceeds in the fall Jane Cobb gives as the reason she wants a divorce from Almon W. She says he has treated her cruelly and she is a poor provider.

The twins were married in 1898, and ever since, she says, it has been her province to plow the corn and do the haying while he sat under a tree and smoked a cornucopia pipe. That was hard enough, but the last straw came when she alleges in her petition, when he pocketed the cash after the crops were sold, spent all the money on himself, and left her to get through the winter as best she could.

Last Thanksgiving, she says, he choked and kicked her and knocked her down, and again in January of this year he brandished a pitchfork before her and swore awful things. He finished up, she avers, by packing the farm tools, grain and stock and moving away. Wherefore she wants an absolute separation and the name of her first husband, Gallaghy.

GHOST CAUSES A PANIC.

Haunts Old Water Tank and Emits Unearthly Shrieks Before Vanishing.

Laporte, Ind.—The neighborhood about Flabery's Siding is greatly excited over the doings of a ghost which has materialized in the form of a headless man, according to reports from the scene, the ghost has been seen several times lately near the old water tank, which was formerly used by the railroad.

Some nights ago it was seen by Frank and George Place, who allege that it gave three unearthly shrieks and disappeared in the direction of the river.

Some days ago an employee of the Erie road was run over by a engine at the spot, the head being completely severed from the body. It is asserted that the body afterward stood erect and walked several rods from the spot, falling against the water tank after emitting a terrible shriek.

LEFT HOME.

She Took Coin and Gun, Also the Children.

Lexington, Ky., July 7.—Becoming desperate over the continued elopement of his wife and one of his neighbors, with whom he believed she eloped, C. L. Howard, a farmer residing near North Middletown, in Bourbon county, arrived here and involved the aid of the police in an effort to locate the missing ones. According to the statement of the aggrieved husband his wife left home 11 days ago with two children, a girl of nine years and a boy of two years, a large sum of money and a revolver, belonging to him, and since that time he has had no trace of the woman except a note mailed in Paris stating that she would not return. Louisville, Ky., July 8.—Gov. Beckham, when asked for an expression as to Judge Cochran's decision, replied: "I have not read the decision fully and am not prepared to say anything.
